Through your power turn everything for the best. Bring mutual calm between fellow- citizens at home, and drive away those who attack like wild beasts from outside. Bestow your aid and healing on us to counteract our passions, and give our souls and bodies abundant grace sufficient for every need. And if we are unable to contain it, increase our capacity and give us more, that saved and strengthened by your grace we may glorify the pre-eternal Word, who took flesh from you for our sake, together with His Father without beginning and the life-giving Spirit, now and for ever and unto unending ages. Amen.

Tone 2 11th Sunday after Pentacost

The "Falling-Asleep" or "Repose" ("Dormition", "Uspenie"), of our MostHoly Lady Mother of God and Ever-Virgin Mary:

Discourse on the All-Blessed Dormition-Repose of our Most-Pure Lady Mother of God and Ever-Virgin Mary, by Saint Gregory Palamas, ArchBishop of Thessalonika.

After the Ascension of the Lord, the Mother of God remained in the care of the Apostle John the Theologian, and during his journeyings She lived at the home of his parents, near the Mount of Olives. She was a source of consolation and edification for both the Apostles and for all the believers. She told them about miraculous happenings: the Annunciation, the Conception without seed and without defilement of Christ born of Her, about His early childhood, and about all His earthly life. And just like the Apostles, she helped plant and strengthen the Christian Church by Her presence, Her discourse and Her prayers. The reverence of the Apostles for the MostHoly Virgin was extraordinary. After the receiving of the Holy Spirit on the remarkable day of Pentecost, the Apostles remained basically at Jerusalem for about 10 years attending to the salvation of the Jews, and wanting moreover to see the Mother of God and hear Her holy discourse. Many of the newly-enlightened in the faith even came from faraway lands to Jerusalem, to see and to hear the All-Pure Mother of God.

In ancient times there were many who wanted divine favor, glory, and power. According to Solomon, "Many have acquired riches, and many daughters have acted with power, but she (St Mary) excels and outdoes them all", to an inexpressible degree (cf. Prov. 31:29). Standing between God and the whole human race, she alone made God a son of man, and men sons of God; rendered the earth heaven and made mankind divine. She alone among women was declared the Mother of God by nature transcending every nature. Through her unutterable childbearing she became Queen of all creation in this world and beyond, and through herself she raised up those below her, and made her subjects heavenly instead of earthly. She shared in the noblest honor, the most sublime power and the ordination bestowed from heaven through the divine Spirit (cf. Acts 1:14; 2:1-4), and was set high above all, the supremely blessed Queen of a blessed race.

Therefore, O Lady, generously share your mercy and your graces with all your people, your
